

Northville District Library
Policy on
Displays, Handouts and Postings

The Northville District Library, in keeping with its mission as an information provider and community center, offers space for handouts, displays, and bulletin board postings concerning cultural, governmental, educational and other community oriented activities. All such materials or displays must be of a non-commercial nature.

Displays, handouts and postings must be approved by the Library Director or their designee (s) before being set up or displayed. All items featured on the bulletin boards will have a Northville District Library label affixed to them to designate it as an approved item. Unapproved materials will be disposed of at the library's discretion. Acceptance by the Library of materials for distribution, posting, or display does not constitute endorsement by the Library of the activity or ideas espoused.

The Library reserves the right to accept or decline any materials for handout, posting, or display, and to decide on the appropriate location for these items. The Library may also limit the size, number of items, and the frequency of occasions that an individual or group may display items.

The Library assumes no liability in the event of damage, loss, or theft of any items on display.
